Packing Tips

Please use this as a guideline for what to pack. Remember to pack based on the weather and temperatures during your tour. We find the key to staying comfortable while traveling through the Southwest on an active trip is layering. If you have versatile that offer you the right amount of comfort when used alone or together, you will start your experience off on the right step!

Things to Consider:

• Please remember to always pack essential items such as your passport, money, eyewear, a change of clothing, hiking boots and medications in your carry-on baggage, in case your luggage is delayed.

• Cotton is wonderful in warm weather. However, once it becomes wet from rain, water, or sweat, it will drain your body heat. Bring quick-drying synthetics such as Capilene, MTS and Thermax.

• Always test your layers before a trip. Your outer layer should fit easily over the inside ones without binding and bunching up.

• Make sure hiking boots are broken in. Bring moleskin for foot treatment. Thin liner socks worn under regular hiking socks may minimize the risk of blisters. The liner sock should be synthetic, not cotton. Test your sock combination before you go on the trip.

• Stuff sacks are great for sorting gear. Use different sizes/colors to differentiate contents.

• Remember these are suggestions.
